Avid Readers Publishing Group. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 150 pages. Dimensions: 8.3in. x 5.5in. x 0.5in. In the 1960s, Ian stays with his aunt in California, awaiting the outcome of his mother's risky surgery. Alone, afraid, and far from home, he starts 4th grade at a new school. Hiding from a bully, he gets locked inside the school one weekend. There, he finds an ancient journal of a boy who a century before survived the California Gold Rush, a ship-wreck, and the Civil War. As Ian reads of William Chases bravery, he gains confidence to face his new life. Ians Golden Passage is inspired by the true story of the S. S. Central America and its buried California gold beneath the ocean. Ians Golden Passage is Tanya's third published work. Her first book, Ten Chimneys, was about a little girl growing up in the kettle moraine of Wisconsin. Her second book, A Grandparents Right, was written for grandparents who are raising their grandchildren. She lives in Yorba Linda, CA, with her blended family: her husband, her daughter, her granddaughter, her dog, Moose, and a hamster, a bird, and a fish. Constance trains teachers in our California elementary schools. She has been an educator most of her life. She is a part-time faculty member at California State University in Fullerton, CA. Constance has two grown children, Bo and Audra, and lives in Yorba Linda, CA, with her husband, Eric. This item ships from multiple locations. Your book may arrive from Roseburg, OR, La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
