Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from A History of Industry This book is the result of several years experience in teaching industrial history in the Julia Richman High School of New York City. As there was no textbook which seemed to me to meet the requirements of the subject, I worked out an outline and a bibliography and taught the subject by the library* method. After the outline was published and other teachers attempted to use it, most of them seemed to feel that a textbook was necessary to the success of their work. A desire to make possible a more extensive teaching of the subject led to the creation of this book. The length of time given to industrial history in the Julia Richman High School has varied from year to year. At first the subject was dealt with somewhat inadequately - in five periods a week for twenty weeks. It has since been allowed either four or five periods a week for forty weeks. If industrial history* is preceded by commercial and industrial geography and followed by economics, it may be covered satisfactorily in less time than where all the training in one or both of these subjects must be introduced into the industrial history. This book is intended to furnish material for a five-period course running through the entire year The history of industry presents economic laws in action. To obtain the greatest possible educational value from such a course it should be followed by a short course in economics, with special application to the problems of the day. I believe that if economic laws are seen first historically and then in their present-day application by the young...
