It helps not our ignorance to feign a knowledge where we have none, by making a noise with sounds without clear and distinct significations. Names made at pleasure, neither alter the nature of things, nor make us understand them, but as they are signs of, and stand for, determined ideas. -- Locke, Hum. Und. b. ii. ch. 13, 18. We have now surveyed the more simple and obvious phenomena of the human mind. We have seen, first, that we have Sensations; secondly, that we have Ideas, the copies of those sensations; thirdly, that those ideas are sometimes Simple, the copies of one sensation; sometimes Complex, the copies of several sensations so combined as to...
