The speaker was a tall, handsome lad, a plebe at the West Point Military Academy. At the moment he was gazing inquiringly out of the tent door at a small orderly. The boy handed him an envelope, and the other glanced at it. Cadet Mark Mallory, West Point, N. Y., was the address. I guess that's for me, he said. Thank you. Hello in there, Texas! Here's a letter from Wicks Merritt. This last remark was addressed to another cadet in the tent. Texas, officially known as Jeremiah Powers, a tall, rather stoop-shouldered youth, with a bronzed skin and a pair of shining gray eyes, appeared in the doorway and watched his friend with interest while he read.
